WORLD TRADE ORGANISATION ON IPR INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS

Intellectual property rights are the rights given to persons over the creations of their minds. They usually give the creator an exclusive right over the use of his creation for a certain period of time.

INTRODUCTION

Intellectual Property Rights (IPR) have become important in the face of changing trade environment which is characterized by global competition, high innovation risks, short product cycle, need for rapid changes in technology, high investments in research and development (R&D), production and marketing and need for highly skilled human resources. Regardless of what product an enterprise makes or what service it provides, it is likely that it is regularly using and creating a great deal of intellectual property.

IPR provides a secure environment for investors, scientists, artists, designers, traders etc. to foster innovation and scientific temper. This innovation often has potential to yield astronomical returns and rewards to creators and users. Obviously, original inventors shall have rights to such profits. However it is imperative that society at large should also be benefitted by such outcomes. Thus, IPR regime aims to strike balance between public and private rights.

There is an emergent need for enterprises and professionals to systematically consider the steps required for protecting, managing and enforcing intellectual property rights, so as to get the best possible commercial results from its ownership.

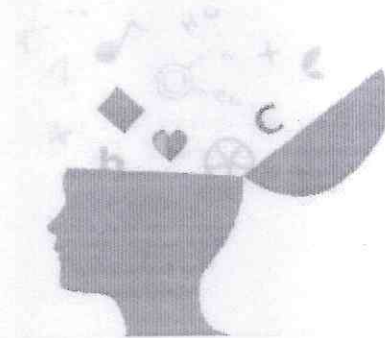

This Seminar will offer an insight into the laws related to intellectual property and the administration of these laws.

SEMINAR OBJECTIVES

- Increase awareness about the role of Intellectual Property in today's knowledge economy.
- Provide inputs on current IP issues and on effective protection of national interests at international forum.
- Review the existing IP regulations/legislations.
- Provide blue prints of strategies for developing a vibrant IP culture related to Geographical Indication, Copyright, Patents, Designs and Trade Marks.
