SECTION B: Event report and reflection

1. Event description:

An online intramural Symposium on “Mathematics and its Applications” for final year UG & PG students of the Mathematics Department on 12th-14th May 2020 was organised by Department of Mathematics, School of Basic Science & Research, Sharda University, Greater Noida. Dr. Khusheed Alam, Head of Department, welcomed the participants. The online symposium included 8 sessions and chaired by Prof. U. V. Balakrishnan, Dr. Khursheed Alam, Dr. Varun Mohan and Dr. Anshu Kumar. In this symposium 19 projects were presented which were related to different fields of mathematics like: Differential equation, Operations research, Sampling Theory, Graph Theory, Inventory Problem etc..

Symposium is a course requirement where in under the guidance of a faculty member a student is expected to do an in depth study in a specialized area by doing literature survey, understanding different aspects of the problem and arriving at a status report in that area. While doing a symposium, the student is expected to learn investigation methodologies, study relevant research papers, correlate work of various authors/researchers critically, study concepts, techniques, prevailing results etc., analyze it and present a project report.
